

George is the Director of Production Planning & Control for Fincantieri Marinette Marine (FMM), and a member of FMM's Senior Leadership Team. His department covers vital aspects of the relationship with most vendors post-award, including troubleshooting and issue resolution as well as handling cases of material replacement for the manufacturing operations. He has held numerous positions within the company, including more recently Director of the Littoral Combat Ship (LCS) Program Office.

Prior to joining FMM, George accumulated more than 20 years of professional experience, in a range of corporate positions in Europe and the U.S., in various industries spanning from Telecommunication and Retail to Pharmaceuticals and heavy industry.

George holds an MBA from Columbia Business School, in NY, and is the proud father of a 4-year-old boy and a 1-year old girl.