

Nia Mack is all about cybersecurity, and loves to speak with people of all ages and backgrounds about what it is important. As a Cyber Risk Lead, she assesses ransomware-related risks identified across American Family Insurance while facilitating mitigation and remediation efforts. Nia has about 10 years' experience in a variety of roles throughout the cybersecurity industry; outside of risk management, her areas of expertise include data analysis, cybersecurity exercises, project management, testing and validation, documentation, and more. She currently resides in Dallas, TX with her husband and fur babies.
