- 10 Tips for Marketing to DoD

1. Follow the money.
2. Arm yourself with information and facts, not emotion.
3. Find your niche. Don't try to be everything to everybody.
4. Target your market and understand your prospective customer's mission, environment, challenges and hot buttons.
5. Meet with Small Business Professionals.
6. Don't provide a standard, canned presentation to potential customers. Research their requirements and understand their challenges.
7. Explain how your service or product has a positive impact on a project's cost, schedule and performance.
8. Identify your differentiators—what separates you from other great performers?
9. Translate the relevancy of your past performance; don't expect a prospective customer to do it for you.
10. When you meet with Program Managers and Contracting Officers, be prepared to discuss a real requirement, not your generic capabilities

FINDING POINTS OF CONTACT

- Procurement Center Representatives
- Procurement Center Representatives \(PCRs\) help small businesses win federal contracts. PCRs view many federal acquisition and procurement strategies before they're announced. This enables them to influence opportunities that should be set aside for small businesses.
- PCRs also conduct market research, assist small businesses with payment issues, provide counseling on the contracting process, and more.

"Advocating for small business utilization and ensuring equal opportunities to conduct business with the Command"

USSOCOM's Office of Small Business Programs (OSBP) is designated to advocate on behalf of small businesses and strives to meet the goals mandated by Congress and the Office of the Secretary of Defense, ensuring equal opportunities to conduct business with the Command. This office should be one of a small business' first contacts when initiating communication with USSOCOM.

The OSBP is dedicated to helping you and your business. They will explain known requirements, help you understand who buys what within the Command, and can assist you in locating other likely markets within DoD and developing strategies for accessing those markets. They provide information and guidance on defense procurement policies and procedures as well as methods for identifying prime contracting and subcontracting opportunities.

The DoD and USSOCOM continually strive to increase the number of contract awards to small businesses, service-disabled veteran-owned small businesses, woman owned small businesses, small disadvantaged businesses, historically underutilized business zones. Small businesses are encouraged to contact the office directly with questions or requests to visit the command.

AGENCY STRATEGIC PLANS

LINE OF EFFORT #1: Increase Readiness & Lethality

To increase readiness and lethality, we must execute our war-time mission every day to develop, deliver, support, and sustain air, space, and cyberspace dominance, today and tomorrow. Our decision-makers need to be fully threat informed, and the National Defense Strategy (NDS) directs us to rapidly respond with higher-fidelity threat information tailored to our customers' needs. AFMC is the trusted provider of Air Force resources and systems across our changing domains. By delivering the measured improvements in the below categories, we will ensure that this effort remains successful.

- Infrastructure – Invest in ready, resilient, lethal bases.
- Counter-Small Unmanned Aircraft Systems (C-sUAS) – Develop strategy and deploy systems to protect against this emerging threat.
- Cybersecurity – AFMC CONOP development and execution.
- Aircraft Availability Improvement Plan (AAIP) – Increase Mission Capable Rates each Fiscal Year.
- Priority Program Reviews – Synchronize AFMC review and support of special interest items & programs.
- Decision—Tools & Processes – Analyze resource capability shortfalls relative to Air Force Warfighting Integration Capability.
- Operational Agility – Maximize AFMC effectiveness as we support the warfighter.

GAO PRODUCTS

- GAO provides Congress, the heads of executive agencies, and the public with timely, fact-based, non-partisan information that can be used to improve government and save taxpayers billions of dollars.
- Their work is done at the request of congressional committees or subcommittees or is statutorily required by public laws or committee reports, per their Congressional Protocols.

If the government is following the GAO's guide to assess technology, then it would make sense for a company to use that same guide to evaluate its technology and possibly identify areas that need to be corrected or shored up prior to pitching it to the government.

The item dealing with costs is probably more relevant in a general sense.

Veterans Community Care Program: VA Needs to Strengthen Its Oversight and Improve Data on Its Community Care Network Providers

If the report is pointing out weaknesses or deficiencies then the agency may need to take action and that may equate to developing a new program or letting a contract.

If a company is responding to a RFP the information in a slightly related report may provide ideas on how to structure their response/offerings.
